DELHI LAW AND POLICY REVIEW

VOLUME I
2019

Delhi Law and Policy Review is an online peer-reviewed journal of law. It is an annually published Journal by Law Centre- II Faculty of Law, University Of Delhi. The journal seeks to advance legal research in the field of contemporary legal issues. It focuses on facilitating policy measure and law to tackle various challenges that are present before us in these fields. It seeks to create a platform where there is an exchange of ideas regarding issues mutually relating to law and public policy.

The Delhi Law and Policy Review invites original, unpublished manuscripts from all academicians, judges, legal professionals and law students from India and abroad, under the following categories:-

1. Long Articles (4000-6000 words, including footnotes)

This category is designed to comprehensively deal with and provide a sustained analysis of a particular legal topic, identifying lacunae therein and suggesting solutions to the problem. Long Articles should be accompanied by an abstract not exceeding 250 words.

2. Short Note & Case Comment: (2000– 3000 words including Footnotes)

An important feature of the Review is the 'Notes and Comments'. A note is a concise argument focusing on any recent legal controversy or debate. A comment is limited to critical appraisal of a recent judicial decision, new legislation (enacted or proposed), or policy reform proposals.
